Governing Affects

Neoliberalism, Neo-Bureaucracies, and Service Work

Otto Penz, University of Vienna, Austria and Birgit Sauer, University of Vienna, Austria

Series: Routledge Studies in the Sociology of Emotions

Governing Affects explores the neoliberal transformation of state governance in Europe towards affective forms of dominance, exercised by customer oriented neo-bureaucracies and public service providers.

The book examines new affective modes of subjectivation and activation of public employees as well as their embodiment of affective requirements to successfully guide and advise citizens. By combining theory building on governance with empirical research in key areas of state power the book will be of interest to scholars and researchers in a broad range of disciplines including political science, political sociology, and critical governance studies.
